Thank you, sir. It is nice to have someone that “has been there, done that” to talk to.

Bill,
I really appreciate you all and how you are handling these agenda driven morons
Always in your corner

Yes sir. For now we can be mindful of our shirts on Friday. At the end of the day the most important thing is the seniors. My guys told me that there are some there that looks like this is the only hot meal they get in a week. My guys said that the guy that took the 6 cupcakes looked like he needed them. That just kills me to hear that in our country. I really don’t care what their “group” thinks. I have offered to meet face to face to answer any questions, to talk about the permits we have, and about our R/O system, which is the latest on their list to gripe about. No one is willing to take me up on it. That speaks volumes. I did spend 2 hours with and I haven’t seen him on facebook since.

Just have to fight the good fight. I will be there tomorrow night and see if any of our guys want to attend. Maybe they will want to speak.

Thank you,
Bill

Bill,
you know what is Fed up about that is Walmart wears their company vests and National Bank wears theirs, the hospital has their logo and wears scrubs, Quiberry wears their logo... this is attempted intimidation at its finest
These people aren't even worth the the time we spend to try to respect them and stay out of their way.
This is getting way out of hand... and now for tomorrow nights meeting they have printed signs like the Dems did at the State of the Union... spoiled, ignorant, entitled children

Yes, it is! I will ask our guys to not wear anything with ADI on it in the future. We do not want to be a distraction with all the good this City does for its citizens. We are just proud to be part of it.

Thank you,
Bill
